Hobby innovations always add excitement to collecting. Ever evolving additions like autograph cards, website exclusives, etc. keep things fresh and hobbyists involved. Now, the company that recently acquired Topps, Fanatics Collectibles, is launching zerocool, a brand designed to explore culture through trading cards with a pricing protocol that's truly unique.

Fanatics Collectibles co-founder and Chief Vision Officer, Josh Lubner, explains, "It's all the important people in our lives—musicians, actors, fashion designers, artists, philanthropists, business people, politicians, and all the brands that matter. It's truly about culture."

A zerocool set could even be a trading card adaptation of a Non Fungible Token line. Such is the case with zerocool's first release, a collaboration with VeeFriends, Gary Vaynerchuk's NFT collection.

A second product, consisting of 9,500 boxes and based on the Jackass franchise, was made available in early April.

Vaynerchuk created VeeFriends to bring to life his ambitions of building a community around his creative and business passions using NFT technology and their smart contract capabilities. There are 10,255 VeeFriends tokens for this inaugural collection. For zerocool, VeeFriends is a premium set on thick stock that includes foil stamping. The checklist has more than 200 cards with additional chase elements including autographs and even sketch cards.

For all zerocool products, collectors will ultimately be the ones determining the price. At release, all will follow a Blind Dutch Auction format. Whenever a new set launches, collectors determine what they're willing to pay on a zerocool box and submit a bid. Once the sales period ends, all offers are compiled. The clearing price is then determined by the lowest qualifying bid.

Say there are 1,000 boxes of a product and 1,500 bids. If all those bids were ranked from highest to lowest, the 1,000th highest is the clearing price. That's what everyone pays. Those who bid more still pay the same price as everyone else. "This is the [fairest] way to sell any high-demand product but certainly for trading cards," Lubner said. "Everyone has the same fair chance to get it and you let the market set the price." For zerocool, the initial price is the same for all. This structure will be part of all of the brand's trading card products. 2022 zerocool VeeFriends has a total production run of 1,000 10-card boxes, 800 of which were publicly available. The clearing price in the March website sale was $2,150 per box.

With Fanatics now owning Topps, there's been concern what the launch of zerocool means to existing entertainment properties. For longstanding lines, like Star Wars and GPK, likely nothing. Topps will continue to create entertainment products. When it comes to launching new licenses and collaborations, though, it will depend. Lubner did suggest there could be times where characters crossover to a zerocool product if it's appropriate. The example he gave was if they were doing a product about important figures from a particular city or place, a Garbage Pail Kid might make the checklist, but only as a cameo, not as an entire brand shift. "Everything will be a surprise until it's time to start talking about it," announced Lubner.

2017 Fleer Ultra Spider-Man Brings Gem of a Price

In a February 5th Goldin auction, a complete set of 50 blue-background Precious Metal Gems, from the 2017 Upper Deck Fleer Ultra Spider-Man release, sold for $168,000, a fee which includes buyer's premium. Since each card in the limited series is numbered to 49, only 49 complete sets could possibly exist, making assembling a set a daunting challenge. All 50 cards have been graded by Professional Sports Authenticators, with grades ranging from PSA 6 to PSA 9.

Several Marvel Upper Deck sets, such as Marvel Retro and Marvel Masterpieces, have featured Precious Metal Gems. These inserts, along with actor autograph cards, are proving to be amongst the favorites of collectors.

Eerie Covers: The Whole, Complete Bloody Mess & Cards

Eerie Publications was a New York based company that published horror comic magazines in the late 1960s through the early 1980s that featured a mix of new comics and reprints of 1950s horror comics. What caught readers eyes at the newsstand were the incredible full color covers that featured plenty of gore (blood, monsters, and attractive women!) in publications, including Horror Tales, Tales from the Tomb, Terror Tales, and Witches' Tales.

Fantaco Enterprises has put together a book that includes every cover from the Eerie line of horror magazines, which will be a treat for those who remember reading these in their youth or for anyone interested in the horror genre. As an added bonus, each preordered copy will be serial numbered and include a set of 10 trading cards only available with the preorders. Tom Skulan of Fantaco came up with the idea of producing trading cards as he collected cards himself for several years. Skulan wanted to give purchasers of the book something extra as a way of thanking them for their patience through supply chain delays. The card cover selections were made by Mike Howlett, who also selected the covers and write-ups for the book itself.

The book is available in both hard and soft cover with an anticipated release date of May 31, 2022. Fans preordering prior to that date will receive the trading cards as well. Fantaco also plans on releasing a trading card set later in the year that will feature all new Eerie Publication images not included in the preorder set so watch for future information in Non-Sport News.

Harry Potter Anniversary Boxed Set is Magic

Since Artbox Entertainment published its last Harry Potter set in 2011, collectors have been hoping for another release and Panini UK has stepped up. The company is planning on a boxed set to commemorate each film in the series on the twentieth anniversary of each respective film's release. Panini delivered the first set in January to celebrate the 2001 release of Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone.

Each set comes in an attractive box and features 22 cards on "special materials" that cover the movie, along with poster and award cards, which showcase what character has earned a Panini special award. These are available to collectors in the United Kingdom, Gibraltar and Ireland. Resourceful fans should be able to acquire these on the secondary market or through networking with other collectors. Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets should be available towards the end of the year, based on the film's original release date.

New Book Reflects on Iconic Jim Lee 1992 X-Men Card Series

Coming on the 30th anniversary of Impel Cards' X-Men series, which featured all-new Jim Lee art, is another trading card-themed volume from Abrams ComicArts, this time as a volume themed with Marvel's favorite mutants. Previous Abrams ComicArts books featured Topps Star Wars, Wacky Packages, Garbage Pail Kids and Mars Attacks cards.

The book will feature the original and remastered images of the entire series of cards, along with introductory and editorial content by Bob Budiansky, writer and set editor for the series. Included are 250 color illustrations within the 272-page volume, sending collectors back to 1992 to wax nostalgic. As with other Abrams ComicArts releases, the tome also includes bonus trading cards unique to this edition. The book is scheduled to release on July 5, 2022.

Harry Potter Quad Auto/Costume Card Closes at $20,400

Harry Potter has been one of the most successful trading card releases in recent history. The sets from Artbox Entertainment have always been sought after by collectors since the first release of Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban in 2004.

On February 23, 2022, Goldin Auctions offered a Beckett Grading Services example of the Harry Potter and The Goblet of Fire Update autograph\costume relic card, featuring Daniel Radcliffe as Harry Potter, Clemence Poesy as Fleur Delacour, Stanislav Yanevski as Viktor Krum, and Robert Pattinson as Cedric Diggory. The card graded as a perfect 10 for the autographs, and an overall 8.5 near mint to mint plus. The final auction price of $20,400 included a buyer's premium of 20%. Talk about wizarding magic!

Historic Autographs Offers Free Trading Cards for Schools

Just in time for President's Day, Historic Autograph and Card Company announced they are bringing the nation's first president to winning schools...for free. That's right, the company known for creating historical and sports-based trading cards for more than ten years is expanding their offerings to include educational trading cards, and what a way to start!

These collectible cards sport stunning images and informative text that bring crucial moments in colonial history to life for students in an entertaining and innovative way. Cards can be traded among classmates or even used in games or as prizes to increase students interest and involvement in American history.

Each complete factory sealed set of 2022 Historic Autographs Washington Chronicles contains 220 colorful cards that are intended for use by Grades 5 through 10. Eighty winning schools in all will each receive 25 sets, enough to satisfy the needs of each institution.

No purchase was necessary and cards will be shipped to winning schools at no charge. Nominations needed to be received by 4/30/2022.

Learning and appreciating the early days of America can be fun Washington Chronicles Trading Cards.

eBay Initiates Trading Card Authentication Program

Due to the increased popularity and prices of sports cards and trading cards, auction platform eBay has instituted an authentication program, requiring cards that sell for over $750.00 to be sent to eBay for third party authentication by Certified Collectibles Groups affiliates, CGC Trading Cards and Certified Sports Guaranty (CSG).

The current plan is to authenticate raw cards and expand the service to include graded, autograph, and patch/wardrobe cards. Cards will be placed in a holder and include a tamper-proof sticker with a QR code confirming the authentication process. Sellers will send the card directly to eBay for the certification, and then when completed the card will ship from eBay to the purchaser.

The service is free for a limited time, and the process will likely evolve as the response is gauged by the collecting community and eBay, but it will be interesting to see how this new policy unfolds going forward. NSU

THIS IS ONLY

Test cards are a small and largely obscure part of the hobby but that's one of the reasons they hold so much fascination for high-end collectors. After all, it's the hunt that inspires and entices most hobbyists, and what could be more desirable than to find something old that was hard to get, even when it was new.

Test cards were made when a company, usually Topps, had a property they would like to market but were not entirely convinced it had wide enough collector appeal to make for a sure fire hit. Enter test cards, small releases distributed to a limited market in a way that would allow the company to gauge projected success of national distribution.

Sometimes test sets with positive sales results went wide without any changes to the cards, box or wrapper. Other times they were tweaked before full release, making for subtle differences between test and regular editions. Test sets with negative results were quickly pulled from points of sale, never reaching a large customer base. The worse these cards sold, the faster they were pulled, and the faster they were pulled, the more difficult they are to find today.

There are also from-the-drawing-board cards that never even made it to the test stage, like Bewitched, Bonanza and Lavern & Shirley, that none-the-less still surface, abet rarely, today. For super rare items, note there is only one known proof card of Gidget and only sections of an It's About Time proof box that exist. Nothing else has ever been found from either show and likely were never created. Finally, there are the cards, like F-Troop, Green Acres and I Dream of Jeannie, that are rumored but largely exist only as the stuff of legend.

Here are some vintage test cards that still remain highly sought-after today:

PREPARING FOR ATTACK

1965 TOPPS DANIEL BOONE — Maybe Fess Parker should have quit after the wildly successful Davy Crockett cards were released nine years earlier. Instead, he's featured as another western hero in the extremely rare, black and white photoed set of 55 (presumed) cards. Card fronts include an action caption while backs feature the card number along with a narrative and an illustration of the famed frontiersman.

Because these cards are so rare, anytime one does come to market, pricing remains largely unpredictable.

A TEST...

CONTINUE TO
ADD INTRIGUE TO THE HOBBY

BY ALAN BIEGEL

1965 TOPPS FLASH GORDON — Only a very few collectors have been able to piece together a full, 24-card set of one of the hobby's most elusive prizes. The set spotlights Buster Crabbe as the early sci-fi hero on B&W card fronts with short text and a Gordon illustration on numbered, salmon-colored backs. It is believed the cards were only made available in generic Fun Packs and were not released as an independent test issue. It has been confirmed that since all printed card #14's have been accounted for, putting together any new complete sets is impossible. Still, singles remain in high demand, with asking prices often in the $1,000+ range for highly graded samples.

1965 BUBBLES KING KONG — The King may have made it to the top of the Empire State Building but not to the top of the marketing heap in this straight B&W photo adaption of the classic film released 32 years before this 55-card set. Fronts provide danger filled titles like Moments of Fear and Kong is Loose, while backs feature movie text. Topps released this set under its play-it-safe Bubbles label. Cards from this set are extremely rare today. Although a proof box has been seen, no wrapper is known to exist. Singles have sold in the $300-$400 range. Donruss had better luck the same year with a Kong set that added humorous word balloons to each card front photo.

1966 TOPPS FLIPPER — “They call him Flipper, Flipper, faster than lightning, no-one you see, is smarter than he,” begins the soapy theme song for the world’s most popular underwater mammal. Unfortunately, that popularity didn’t translate to trading cards as this B&W photo-based 30-card test issue quickly sank without much of a trace. Card backs displayed a puzzle and no box or wrapper has ever been found. Testing the waters on this one first proved to be the right decision for Topps. Heritage Auctions sold card #23 in 2009 for $478.

DID YOU KNOW...

While most people tend to think of 1962’s Topps Mars Attacks as a test set, technically it was a regional issue that was pulled very early in its run, largely because of an uproar from parents due to its graphic gore and violence. That didn’t stop kids from loving it, though!

1967 TOPPS TWIGGY — Lesley Hornsby, who was known professionally as Twiggy, was the fashion world’s biggest sensation during the height of Carnaby Street and the Austin Powers-like swinging sixties. As one of the world’s first supermodels, this diminutive darling graced at least 36 cards and a photo-based test wrapper. She even shared one card with Patrick Macnee of British Avengers fame. It is debatable whether this set was ever actually released. Robert Edwards Auctions sold an uncut proof sheet in 2017 for $960.

1968 TOPPS LAND OF THE GIANTS — Being the highest budgeted show on TV at the time didn't help Irwin Allen's Land of the Giants last more than two seasons. The colorful trading cards didn't do much better as they never made it past the test stage, except in England where a smaller version of the cards was released by A&BC. Backs displayed the story in comic book-like panels.

When singles do pop up they usually go for $100-$150 each.

1970 TOPPS

HEE HAW —

Cornpone comedy was the aim of the colorful cards devoted to TV's Hee Haw, a 55-card set that displayed it's deluxe yucks in word balloons over photos of wise-crackin' country folk. Card backs provided additional jokes revealed by employing the magic red paper included in every pack. No wrapper or box has been seen for this elusive test issue.

In 2007, Huggins & Scott auctioned a set missing 15 cards for $14,000.

When found, test cards can make a fun and valuable addition to the collection of any serious non-sport hobbyist. NSU

TOUGH TESTS

THERE ARE PROBABLY MORE TEST SETS THAT WERE ISSUED IN THE 1960s/'70s THAN MOST COLLECTORS REALIZE. HERE'S A SAMPLING OF A FEW OF THE MORE INTERESTING TITLES:

1967 TOPPS SOUPY SALES COLOR — Most seasoned non-sport collectors are familiar with the Topps standard B&W Soupy Sales issue but few are even aware that a blank-backed color 2nd series exists, albeit in an early, unnumbered proof card only version.

1971 TOPPS BOBBY SHERMAN "GETTING TOGETHER" — Fifty-five vividly colored photo cards came with three types of backs—puzzle pieces, "Ask Bobby Sherman" Q&A's and Fan Club information. The cards, as well as a sticker-based test wrapper, can be found with some diligence. As card #44 attests, the set was "Pure Bobby!"

1978 TOPPS BATTLESTAR GALACTICA SERIES 2 — Generally considered to be an unpublished edition, all 132 blank back color cards have been seen. Samples are extremely rare in this, or any other, galaxy.

SOME OTHER TOPPS TEST SETS TO BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR —

1960 Stupid Scratch-Offs, 1965 Dave Clark 5, 1966 Fold-A-Roos, 1966 Superman in the Jungle, 1967 Angry Stickers, 1967 Black-bordered Planet of the Apes, 1967 Captain Nice, 1967 Krazy Little Comics, 1967? Nutty Tickets, 1967 Phoney Records, 1968 Crazy TV, 1968 Julia, 1969 Mod Stickers, 1969 Real Hip Stickers, 1969 Room 222, 1970? Flying Things, 1971 Bobby Sherman Plaks, 1971 Brady Bunch, 1973 Blue-bordered Kung Fu, 1973 Emergency!/Adam 12, 1973 The Rookies, 1973 The Waltons, 1974 Six Million Dollar Man, 1975 Fancy Pants, 1975 Funny Ad Foldees, 1975 Shock Theater, 1976 Bay City Rollers, 1977 Funny Puzzle, and 1982 E.T. Series 2 (unpublished).

ARE YOU READY FOR A REPTILE RUMBLE?

NIGHT!

BY CHARLIE NOVINSKIE

GETTY IMAGES

Everyone loves dinosaurs! And, if there were a real-life Jurassic Park, NSU readers would be the first in line. Apparently card companies felt the same way as they continue to produce sets based on the Jurassic Park film franchise.

Since the release of Jurassic World: Dominion is coming, it's the right time to take a look back at the various manufacturers that transformed the world of dinosaurs into fan favorite cardboard creations. Topps was the most prolific with no less than four sets based on the movie franchise, along with a number of comic adaptations and the insert cards included (see sidebar). As far as creativity, Inkworks provided a series of cards in 3-D, including a number of chase cards.

Classic Jurassic

One of the earliest cards in production was released by Weston Bread as a promotional item back in 1992. There was a total of 24 cards that contained scenes from the movie on the fronts, while the backs had both English and French text. Another promotional set of trading cards was actually produced to promote the opening of Jurassic Park: The Ride at Universal Studios Hollywood, in 1996. The six-card set was distributed with Pepsi products and at Dairy Queen outlets. Another unique product came from Bullsey-Toys — Jurassic World Dog Tags. The entire collection consisted of 24 base dog tags, 24 foil chase tags, 24 sticker cards of which half were lenticular, and ten movie prop dog tags featuring actors from the film, including Chris Pratt and Vincent D'Onofrio. Also produced were promo cards for Samsung/Universal Studios in 1995 to promote Jurassic World. The eight cards revolved around dinosaurs from the movie, including Tyrannosaurus Rex and Velociraptor. The cards were handed out at select Best Buy stores throughout the United States.

The first related card collection produced by Topps, Jurassic Park, arrived in time for the first movie release in 1993. Consisting of 36 packs of eight cards and one sticker per box, the set included a standard 88-card base featuring dinosaurs, the park, characters, storyline, and the movie. A base included a 13-card subset featuring the artwork of Crash. Eleven puzzle stickers and four chase cards were also available. In addition to the cards, Topps Comics produced a four-issue movie adaptation in comic book form, which was polybagged with promotional cards. Of the nine promos, two contained movie images with the balance consisting of artwork from the comics. A five-card cello promo pack was also available.

Not one to rest on their laurels, Topps followed with Jurassic Park 2 cards a few months later. The per pack and box configurations were the same as the first, with cards featuring more dinos and more behind the scenes. The numbering picked up from the first set and ran from #89-154. There were also 11 stickers and four chase holograms. But Topps wasn't finished with their Jurassic Park output for 1993,

JURASSIC CARDS BY THE BOOK

Just in time for the theatrical release of Jurassic World: Dominion on June 10, Abrams Books will be releasing Jurassic Park: The Original Topps Trading Card Series. The 384-page hardcover will be a deluxe collection showcasing all the Topps trading cards from the original series back in 1993—plus four bonus trading cards.

Released nearly 30 years ago, Jurassic Park was an immediate blockbuster with five more films, theme park attractions, and a plethora of merchandising opportunities. The book includes the fronts and backs of all of these classic cards, plus the special chase cards and rare promotional materials. The book also includes text and commentary by Gary Gerani, editor on the original series, and an afterword by Chip Kidd, who created and designed the cover of Michael Crichton's Jurassic Park, which became the iconic logo for the franchise.

Gary Gerani took time to fill in Non-Sport Update readers on his involvement in the book as well as the original card series. "I did this book for Abrams, based on the JP cards I photo-edited and wrote ages ago. I provided Abrams with a detailed introduction that explains how the set and its second series were put together creatively, along with specific commentary for many of the cards," explains Gary.

"To be honest, putting the original JP sets together was pretty much business as usual for a movie gig—I read the screenplay, chose the images, threaded them together for a storyline, created different subsets (behind-the-scenes, etc.), and then wrote the text. Being a dinosaur fan myself added excitement to the product's preparation, and we all couldn't wait to see how this newfangled special effects technique, CGI, would bring our favorite prehistoric behemoths to convincing life on screen."

Gerani recounts another dino-centric set he created for Topps several years before Jurassic Park. "I had just created Dinosaurs Attack! for Topps a few years earlier, and it too had been optioned by Hollywood. Warner Brothers was planning a major movie when Michael Crichton, a big paleo-fan himself, was inspired by our DA! cards to write his own "dinos are back to threaten us" concept, calling it Jurassic Park. Once his tale was offered to Hollywood, plans for making a Dinosaurs Attack! movie were promptly deep-sixed. So, needless to say, my relationship with Jurassic Park was somewhat complicated, emotionally. But hey, who could ultimately resist Spielberg-directed dinosaurs brought to life with an astonishing, unprecedented special effects process? I was as excited as everyone else."

releasing the Jurassic Park Gold Series. The cards were the same as cards 1-88 in the first series but with a gold embossed JP logo on the card fronts. The series was rounded out with four Action Holograms and ten art cards by Arthur Adams, Howard Chaykin, Joe Quesada, Mark Schultz, Kent Williams, and more. Kenner rounded out the collection of dino-related cards in late 1993 with a 67-card set based on the movie while featuring artwork on the front and dinosaur information and trivia on the backs.

Topps returned with another prehistoric romp through the Jurassic period with their Jurassic Park: Lost World cards in 1997. The 72-card set featured Artifacts, Diorama Showcase, Behind the Scenes, and Dinosaur Gallery cards along with the usual intro and checklist cards. There were 36 packs per box with six cards and one sticker per pack. One promo card of an embossed Stegosaurus rounded out the set.

Probably one of the most ambitious undertakings came along in 2001 when Inkworks unleashed Jurassic Park III 3-D to the world. Consisting of 36 packs of seven cards per box, the breakdown was as follows: 1-36 various story and character cards, 37-45 Jaw 2 Claw, 46-54 Dino Discoveries, and 55-72 Field Guide cards. This set featured chase cards that include 3-D viewer glasses (or mail in offer card), CD-ROM game cards, four Jurassic X-treme die-cut cards, and Ragin' Refractor Prismatic Foil Cards (six), with blue backgrounds and green backgrounds. Mega Mayhem Foil Embossed and Reptile Rumble cards were also included in the chase sets.

Bulls-i-Toys also entered the playing field of Jurassic Park again with their own offering—Jurassic World: Fallen Kingdom. The series had 24 packs of seven cards and contained scenes from the movie. Although a bit of an oddity, most of the cards had no titles on them. There were also 15 Dino chase cards, nine Heat 'N Reveal, nine Glow in the Dark, nine 3-D Action Dino, and seven Costume cards.

Not available in the United States, but produced for Australia and New Zealand, were Jurassic Park cards based on the first movie and produced by Dynamic Forces. The cards contained images not readily seen in the U.S. and also included Prism and 3-D Pop-Up cards.

Fantastic Jurassic

With the inclusion of the latest movie, it is apparent the appeal of dinosaurs is here to stay, and the plethora of card sets makes it easy for fans to collect and relive all the excitement of the original and new Jurassic Park/World movies. NSU

RAPTOR CHAPTER

Back in the 1990s Topps licensed properties for both trading cards as well as comic books, thanks to their Topps Comics division. Following the theatrical success of Jurassic Park back in 1993, along with Topps release of trading cards and a four-issue movie adaptation, the company expanded the story with a series of follow-up comics featuring original stories. One such comic was the two-issue Jurassic Park Raptor spin-off by Steve Englehart and Armando Gil. Topps, world famous as a confectionary and trading card company, sold their comics polybagged with trading cards inserted. One of the more memorable sets of cards was the six-set series by renowned artist William Stout. Three cards were inserted in each of the two issues.

MARVEL POWER RANKINGS

THE 10 MOST POPULAR CHARACTERS IN TRADING CARDS TODAY

BY RYAN CRACKNELL

Marvel trading cards have been popular for decades. The annual lineup of sets and releases rivals that of some sports. Also like sports, some characters command top-tier star power and premium prices. Others are relegated to 'common' status.

Like the secondary market for comics, movies and cinematic speculation often contribute to many characters' rise in popularity and relevancy—even when it's for comic-based trading cards.

With all things being equal in a particular product, these are the 10 biggest Marvel stars when it comes to trading cards.

10. CARNAGE

Every hero needs a great villain. Spider-Man has a rogues gallery rivaled only by Batman. Carnage brings a horror edge that, visually, goes further than Venom. Carnage's introduction into the Marvel Cinematic Universe (or Multiverse) in last year's Venom sequel might not have been as dark and chaotic as some may have hoped but it still elevated the character's prominence in the hobby. With Spider-Man cards as a whole seeing a spike of late, it has also meant more interest as collectors look to cornerstone characters.

9. BLACK WIDOW

Natasha Romanoff is a complex character filled with espionage, globetrotting, mystery and a deadly set of skills. For a decade, she was also the female face of the big screen Avengers, including the 2021 solo film. There's some uncertainty over where the character goes from here as far as the movies go—at least with Scarlett Johansson's Romanoff holding the Black Widow mantle.

8. CAPTAIN MARVEL

The Marvel movies might be starting to move on from Black Widow, but Captain Marvel is just getting started. Not only that, but she has played a prominent role in some major comic storylines and crossovers in the last several years. Don't be surprised if Carol Danvers continues her trading card ascension in the years to come.

7. BLACK PANTHER

Black Panther has been a major Marvel player for a long time. His story and that of Wakanda is steeped in lore with identity and technology at the forefront. That said, until recently, one could argue the character was in the second tier of popular Marvel heroes. That changed when the late Chadwick Boseman brought him to the big screen, first in 2016's Captain America: Civil War and then for a solo film two years later. Black Panther was a phenomenon, vaulting the character to the Marvel A-list where he still remains.

6. DEADPOOL

Never underestimate the power of laughter, especially when it's accompanied by lots of over-the-top action and weird friends and enemies. While Deadpool brings plenty of comedy, he also breaks down the fourth wall, offering some comic commentary along the way. In an industry where a lot of characters act, sound and even look familiar, the Merc with a Mouth is a one-of-a-kind. And it's unlikely anyone wants it any other way.

4. IRON MAN

Iron Man has long been one of the major Marvel players. But as, arguably, the heart and soul of the big screen Infinity saga, he has been on another level for more than a decade. Tony Stark doesn't appear to be a major part of the movies going forward, at least directly, but he has still been a catalyst in the fallout of Avengers: Endgame. Still, in this modern era of Marvel trading cards, landing anything Iron Man is considered a big win by most.

2. WOLVERINE

He looks cool, he talks tough and he has blades that shoot out of his hands. Wolverine is like the good guy version of Freddy Krueger. As far as Marvel goes, he has been one of the company's undisputed kings since the mid 1980s. When comics and comic cards exploded by the end of the decade, there he was front and center. Should the iconic X-Man make the jump to the official Marvel Cinematic Universe, expect his popularity to explode once again. Even if he doesn't make his way back to the big screen anytime soon, Wolverine's place in the hobby is still strong.

5. VENOM

Whether he's inhabiting Eddie Brock or Flash Thompson, Venom has been on some epic adventures over the years. Spinning out as essentially Spider-Man's dark side, the character has been in several major storylines done by some of the industry's biggest creators. He's swung back and forth between villain and hero, often landing now somewhere in the realm of gray. Of course, a couple of blockbuster films have certainly helped keep Venom at the Marvel forefront—and this is before any potential cinematic Spider-Man crossover.

3. CAPTAIN AMERICA

In a lot of ways, Captain America isn't as cool as a lot of other superheroes. But he's the role model—the one we aspire to be. Captain America might not be perfect but he's good. That's gone a long way over the decades, even with some different interpretations. Alongside Iron Man, Cap was another key part of making Marvel movies the behemoth it is today. Unlike Iron Man, there's a path forward for name and shield, even if they've been bestowed to someone else.

1. SPIDER-MAN

When it comes to all superheroes, not just Marvel, Spider-Man is one of the no-brainer entries for the Mount Rushmore of characters. The only names who might approach him are Batman and Superman. Spider-Man's greatest strength has always been his relatability. That's translated well on the page, on TV and, now, in film. Perhaps the only place Peter Parker hasn't resonated is the ill-fated trip to the Broadway stage.

Although a lot of high-end Marvel cards have been soaring of late, some key Spider-Man cards are approaching premium levels normally reserved for top sports superstars. In February, a 2013 Fleer Retro Marvel Metal Precious Metal Gems Green Spider-Man, numbered to 10, sold for $255,000 in a private sale. This is the most ever for a Marvel trading card. NSU

SPACE IS AT A PREMIUM

Lost In Space Signs in with a Limited Release

BY RUDY PANUCCI

The Lost In Space reboot series on Netflix has just wrapped its third and final season, and Rittenhouse Archives commemorates it with a limited edition premium set that covers the second and third seasons of the show. This set is absolutely loaded with autographs.

This new incarnation of Lost In Space updated and expanded the story, with a few notable changes. While the basic premise is the same—The Robinson family leaves Earth to colonize a planet orbiting Alpha Centauri when something goes wrong and leaves them “Lost In Space.” The reboot offers a lot of new story elements, not the least of which is moving the year this all happens to 2046, rather than the original’s 1997.

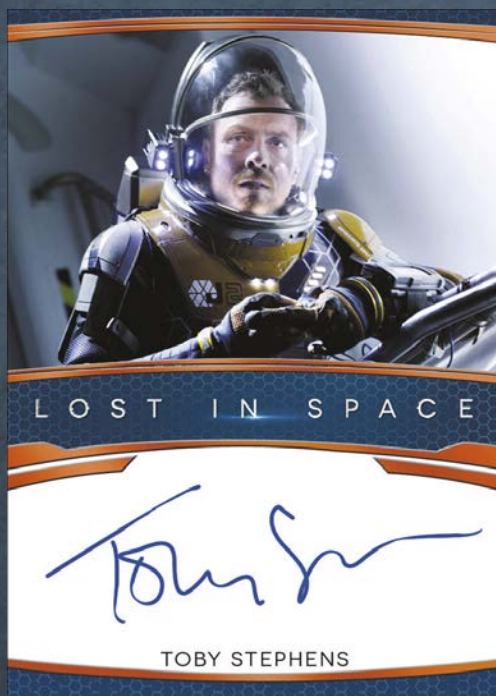

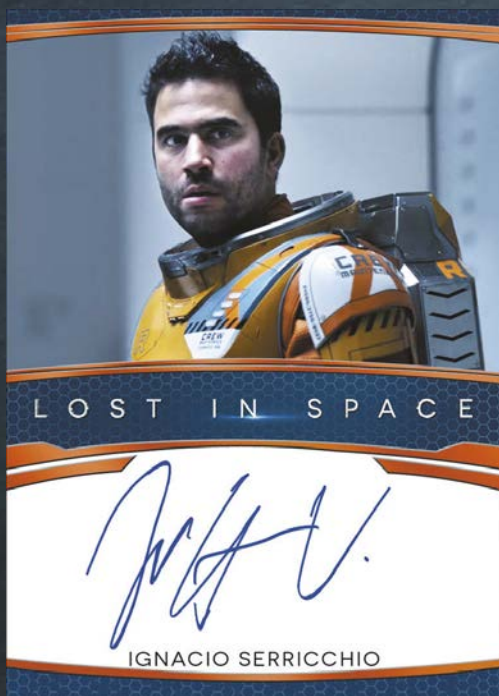

The Robinson family and Don West are still the main characters, but their roles are different. Maureen Robinson is now the mission commander, while her husband, John, is simply along for the ride. Don West is the ship’s mechanic, rather than its pilot. Dr. Smith is a woman, and also an imposter. The Robot, rather than being a crew member, is an alien that Will Robinson encounters and befriends. The show has been very well-received and did not overstay its welcome, telling its complete story in twenty-eight episodes, spread across three seasons.

In 2019, Rittenhouse Archives released a full set devoted to the first season of Netflix's Lost In Space. This included a 72-card base set and a full slate of inserts, autographs, relic cards, and other incentives. This time around, they decided to go with a very limited premium set of Lost In Space Seasons 2 & 3 Trading Cards.

Steve Charendoff, the president of Rittenhouse Archives, explains, "Given the current market conditions and the time it would have taken to produce a full series of cards in foil packs, boxes and cases, we decided to go for the Premium Pack option, which we can release in April. Otherwise, we would have been looking at a Fall or Winter release, and we just didn't feel it was best to wait that long. Interest in Lost In Space on Netflix is high right now, so it's better to go this route."

Did You Know? Bill Mummy, who played the original Will Robinson in the 60s Lost in Space, has not only cameoed on the Netflix version but has also appeared on more than 400 television episodes, films, commercials and many voice-over projects.

FOUND IN SPACE: THE 1966 SET REISSUED

Lost In Space has a long history in trading cards. The 1966 set from Topps is one of the most popular among collectors, despite, or possibly because of, its simplicity.

The card fronts sport black and white images, all taken from the first season of the show, with a white border, short caption and tiny drawing of the Earth. The card backs are printed in two-colors, black and pink-orange, and include an illustration, the card number, and a description of the photo on the front. There were only 55 cards in this set.

However, collectors might be interested in a Rittenhouse Archives 2005 reissue of this classic, along with an extension set that added new cards, doubling its size while maintaining the vintage look with old-school card stock, black and white images, and two-color printing on the back (the extension card backs are black and blue).

Steve Charendoff from Rittenhouse Archives explains the genesis of this insert set, "I have always been a huge fan of the 1960's Lost In Space TV series. I collected the original cards when I was growing up, and as an adult the idea of expanding that set with an additional 55 cards just seemed like a lot of fun to me. It was awesome to make The Complete Lost In Space set since there had never before been a set of cards that fully covered every episode of the show. It's always a treat for me to produce a set of cards like that for a show that I particularly enjoyed as a kid."

At the time, some collectors feared that such close reproductions would lead to unscrupulous dealers trying to pass them off as originals to unsuspecting buyers. There was also the theory a reproduction would bring down prices of the original cards. Those fears were unfounded as the reissue cards were very clearly marked.

Images for the extension set were a combination of production stills provided by the studio and screen captures from the DVD release of Lost In Space. Further, the reissue and extension cards were inserts in the much larger Complete Lost In Space set, and were actually quite rare. With 110 cards in the reissue and extension set, and only one card being inserted in every eight packs, the last seventeen years have shown it's much easier, and in some cases cheaper, to find a complete set of the vintage cards than it is to complete a set of the reissue.

1966 Topps Lost In Space trading cards can go for ten to ninety dollars each, depending on rarity and condition. Some cards, like the #1 card, are very hard to find. Complete sets usually run around a thousand dollars, give or take a hundred, and again, depending on condition.

With the 2005 Lost In Space Reissue Set, individual cards can be found for as low as ten dollars, and as high as forty or fifty. However, finding a recorded sale of a complete set was not possible. With 110 cards, and an average price of twenty-five dollars each, it would be an expensive and time-consuming endeavor to compile a complete set.

SAVE WILL ROBINSON!

Fans of the show should still be very happy. While the price per pack may seem high at $299.99, each pack contains seven autograph cards, at least one of which will be a dual autograph; three character cards and six episode cards. The entire set consists of nine single autograph cards, three dual autographs, eight character cards and eighteen episode cards. It should be possible to compile a complete set with just three packs, and that would include duplicates of some of the autographs. There are collectors who will spend more money buying entire cases of some card sets, only to wind up with fewer autograph cards than can be found in this collection.

Lost In Space Seasons 2 & 3 Trading Cards offers up virtually the entire cast in autograph form. Signers include Maxwell Jenkins (Will Robinson), Toby Stephens (John Robinson), Molly Parker (Maureen Robinson), Taylor Russell (Judy Robinson), Mina Sundwall (Penny Robinson), Parker Posey (June Harris/Zoe Smith), Ignacio Serricchio

At $299.99, each pack contains seven autograph cards, three character cards and six episode cards.

(Don West), Raza Jaffrey (Victor Dhar), and Ajay Friese (Vijay Dhar). Dual Autographs signed by Jenkins/Parker, Jenkins/Sundwall and Jenkins/Russell are inserted with at least one Dual Autograph card in every pack.

Charendoff sums up the set, “We’ve covered all the key areas, with autograph cards of pretty much all the primary actors, dual autos, episode cards for the season 2 and season 3 episodes, and character cards of the lead performers.” There will only be 225 packs of Lost In Space Seasons 2 & 3 Trading Cards produced. Packs can be ordered directly from Rittenhouse Archives at their website, scifihobby.com. NSU

LOST IN SPACE AND TIME: THE REBOOT THAT NOBODY FOUND

The recent Netflix series is not the first reboot of Lost In Space. However, many fans have chosen to forget the 1998 movie that starred William Hurt, Gary Oldham, Matt LeBlanc, and Heather Graham. Complaints ranged from the radical redesign of the iconic spaceship and robot, to the general mediocracy and lack of humor in the entire production.

However, Inkworks did release a trading card set based on this movie, and fans have not exactly gone out of their way to add this to their collections. Full collections of the 90-card base set can be found for less than five dollars, while the eight foil and three robot inserts aren’t much more expensive. Sealed boxes are easy to come by for under forty bucks.

Some things, it seems, are destined to remain lost in space.

MEEKS TECHNIQUES

GPK AWARD WINNER KEEPS THE DEVIL OUT OF THE DETAILS

CHRIS MEEKS

The first thing Chris Meeks remembers drawing is Godzilla before he was even in kindergarten. He went on to attend both National Park College and Henderson State University on journalism scholarships earned for his work on a political cartoon titled, “Gatorboy.” Gatorboy won two national CSPA Collegiate Gold Circle Awards. Afterwards, Chris Meeks got a job at his local paper, The Sentinel-Record, as a graphic designer and occasional political cartoonist where he worked for 20 years before becoming a full-time sketch card artist.

NSU: Since Transformers you have drawn for a lot of different sets. Any favorites?

CM: I’ve never counted the projects I’ve participated in, but yes, it’s a lot. Before I worked on sketch cards, I worked mostly in pen & ink. But my wife, Sandy (who’s a classically trained artist, and has had work in the Smithsonian) started giving me advice and she really helped me up my color game. If I had to pick a favorite set I’ve worked on, it has to be Garbage Pail Kids. They’re closest to my cartoon roots.

NSU: Do you like the big licenses or small-press sets more?

CM: I love working on all of them. Each set has its own challenges and benefits. I enjoy trying out different styles and techniques. The smaller sets give me a chance to work on theme related art that I don’t normally get to do with the bigger sets.

NSU: For sets like Star Trek and Game of Thrones you drew a lot of ships and castles. Are scenes more fun to draw than characters?

CM: The scenes and ships are WAY more fun to draw. Especially the ships. I have a ton of Copic grey tone

NSU: How did you get started in sketch cards?

Chris Meeks: I had just about given up on doing traditional art. Everything seemed to be going digital. Then one day, I came across one of Jessica Hickman’s Facebook posts about sketch card sets and my traditional art gears started running again. I asked Jessica if she had any contact information she could share, and she told me about Breygent Marketing. I sent them some samples, and Tom Breyer gave me [sketch participation in] my first set—Transformers Optimum Collection, in 2013.

multiliners that come in handy for all of that tiny ship detail. I'm always stressed when recreating a realistic likeness, especially with so many great character artists in the business. David Desbois was the one that inspired me to work harder at the character illustrations. We both worked on Cryptozoic's Downton Abbey set, and it was the first set where I got to draw realistic characters. I thought my cards looked pretty good, UNTIL I saw Desbois. I couldn't believe someone could get such an incredible likeness at such a tiny size. After that, I concentrated more on realism.

NSU: You're scheduled to attend May's Philly Non-Sports Show. Have you been before?

CM: First time! The last comic/card show I attended was SDCC in 2000, so it's been a while. I'm pretty nervous since it's been so long since I've been to a show, but I'm really looking forward to finally meeting everyone in person.

NSU: You won GPKNews Sketch Card of the Year. Congratulations!

CM: Thanks so much! I just happened to be on Facebook when someone had posted the news on my page. It's a huge honor, and I really appreciate how much everyone enjoys the art.

NSU: Do you have a dream property, or favorite "universe" that you wish would be made into a card set?

CM: Good question! Godzilla maybe? I loved working on the Ultraman set and would really like to take a crack at the King of Monsters.

NSU: Are you a full-time artist? Do you have any hobbies?

CM: At the moment, I'm a full time sketch card artist which is both exciting and terrifying at the same time. I was laid off from my newspaper job due to the pandemic in 2020, and my wife and I decided we were going to give freelancing a try. I'm normally at my desk for about 10 hours each day, which doesn't leave too much room for hobbies. In the early '90s, Sandy and I started collecting trading cards. Our favorites were the Sandman sets, Star Wars Galaxy, Marvel Masterpiece, and the Spider-Man 1995 Fleer Ultra set.

NSU: What's next? Are there any upcoming projects you're allowed to share with us?

CM: The Garbage Pail Kids Go On Vacation set should hopefully be coming out soon. I'm also doing a few smaller sets from China that I'm having fun with.

NSU: How can people contact or follow you?

CM: I do most of my interaction on Facebook, so if anyone is interested in a return, that's the best place to get in touch with me.

We look forward to seeing you at May's Philly Non-Sports Show. And I have a feeling that your Godzilla art from pre-kindergarten is still better than anything I have ever drawn. NSU

CAREFUL AIM

SEMPER FIDELIS

TOPPS TELLS IT TO THE MARINES IN THIS CLASSIC COLLECTION

BY ARNOLD BAILEY

BOXER REBELLION — 1900
Action Against the Chinese

One way to describe Topps' Fighting Marines is through the retrospective view the card maker offered 60 years after the cards were produced. "In total, this is a comprehensive history of the Marine Corps," is how Topps views the 96-cards arranged in five subsets in 1953. That unique retrospective is the focus of a mini card in the pop culture set that, in 2013, celebrated Topps' 75 years in the non-sport business.

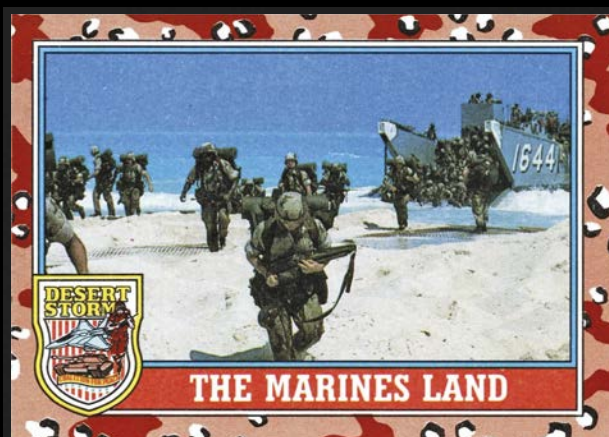

That Topps' description is as on target as one of the Corps' sharpshooters. That wasn't always the case with this anniversary retro set. Sometimes, Topps slanted the info a bit to mask an uncomfortable situation, like with the 1948 Magic Photos' promise that a "special solution" could develop the images on the tiny cards. In reality, the solution wasn't either special or magic. It was spittle. Or the Hit Stars claim that James Dean was the only star on more than one card in the set. In reality, six others celebrities are on two cards each in the 88-card series that promised 98 stars but came up way short.

CORPS COMMEMORATION >>>

Several other card sets commemorate the U.S. Marines topped by another Topps series produced just a year after the Fighting set. For card number 36 in its Scoop set, Topps simply recycled the Iwo Jima artwork from the earlier collection. The difference is on the reverse. The Scoop issue was designed like a newspaper front page during an era when newspapers really did compete and getting a big story first was called a "scoop." Then, as now, war makes the news as 40 of Scoop's 156 cards are war related.

The official Marine Memorial statue is modeled after the Iwo Jima flag raising and several card sets use that to commemorate the Corps. Card #11 in the 1982 Club Pro Set series was the first. Topps American Pie sets in 2002 and 2011 followed.

CARDZ produced an image of the Marines' eagle-globe-and anchor logo in 1994. Topps took a different route in 2008 and 2009 by including Marines-related cards in two football-related sets. Card #19 in a 25-card America's Fighting Forces is dedicated to the Marines and Topps 1991 Desert Storm has The Fighting Marines headline on card #40 and The Marines Land in Series 2 on card #151.

THEMS FIGHTIN' WORDS

The Fighting Marines cards use a mix of official Corps photos and original paintings to show the Marines training, fighting in the Pacific during World War II and saluting special heroes, along with a chronological review of its major battles, and a sampling of its uniforms from the 1775 Revolutionary War through 1918 World War I. That's history as comprehensive as one of the Corps' basic training manuals.

First, though, let's settle an issue about the set's name. The cards themselves, as well as most price guides, label the set Fighting Marines. However, wrappers and display boxes change the label slightly to Fightin' Marines, replacing the ending "g" with an apostrophe. It's likely that version originated in a series of comic books first published in 1951, and someone at Topps simply borrowed it. Little matter, despite early confusion.

Most of the training subset fronts are horizontal, and all have official Corps photos. Most of the other cards feature colorful original paintings and there's a mix of vertical and horizontal formats. All are framed in patriotic red, white and blue borders.

The backs are horizontal, feature brief descriptions of what's on the card fronts, card numbers and tiny logos that identify the card's proper subset.

LAST CARD LAMENT

At least three things impact card conditions and/or scarcity. First, cards were packaged in two ways, singly and as two-card panels. The latter, when separated, leave the cards with nasty nubs where they were joined. Second, there are four short prints, numbers 23, 44, 74, and 96. The latter card is further endangered because it's the last card in the set, which, along with card #1, is often damaged as cards are stored numerically. Finally, many cards have stains from the gum packaged with them.

The original paintings are well done but certainly not up to standards set by some other Topps sets like Mars Attacks. Card number 43, Iwo Jima, is special to any collection. It shows the dramatic and now-familiar image of six Marines raising the American flag atop Mount Suribachi after long and bloody battles to reach the summit. The original photo won a Pulitzer Prize and became a symbol of American victory. Rather than reproduce that historic photo, Topps substituted a painted version of that dramatic scene.

For collectors satisfied with raw, lower condition cards, it's not all that difficult to build a set. And not all that expensive either since most ungraded cards can be had in the $3 to $10 range, with short prints slightly higher. Graded cards get more expensive, significantly so for those in top condition.

The NSU Price Guide has consistently valued a full set in the $724 range, with cards 1 through 48 listed at $4.50 each and cards 49 through 96 at $5.50. Beckett's online high-low guide lists the set in the $336 to $844 range, depending on condition. Robert Edward Auctions sold a full set of mid-grade cards in 2017 for $480, and a similar offering went for $523 a year later on eBay. A few complete sets online had "buy it now" prices, ranging from $1,440 for an Ex/Mt series to $256 described as good. Unopened packs and display boxes are almost never seen on the secondary market. An intact 1¢ pack was a recent eBay listing with a $275 "buy it now" price. There were no takers.

Even for the most common Marines cards, prices can range widely depending on condition. For example, listings for card number # 8 (Obstacle Course) in the training subset went from $199 in Ex-Mt condition to $10.50 in Ex, $8.35 in Vg/Ex, to $6.96 for Vg to $2.75 for Fair.

It's likely that many of the cards are being collected by Marines themselves, so devoted are they to the Corps. So, leathernecks—Semper Fi, and thank you for your service! NSU

MAKE A HITTER YOUR MARINE HERO >>>

Collectors of Marines-related cards should track down a few baseball cards to make their caches complete. The best place to start would be with Fleer's 1959 Ted Williams series.

All 80 cards in this unique set are dedicated to the life on and off the field of the legendary Red Sox slugger. Nine of the set's 80 cards focus on Williams' military service, from his start in the Navy, to his elevation to fighter pilot and transfer to the Marines. One of the most popular is card # 47. It tells how Williams crash landed but escaped injury and returned to his Hall of Fame baseball career.

Among other Marine heroes who also made their mark in baseball are Jerry Coleman and Gil Hodges. Like Williams, Coleman was a Marine pilot when he wasn't playing second base for the Yankees. His early Bowman and Topps cards are popular.

Hodges was one of Brooklyn's fabled "Boys of Summer," a star Dodgers' first-baseman who later managed an early version of the New York Mets. Get his cards and you're the proud owner of the cardboard images of a Marine who will become the newest inductee of the Baseball Hall of Fame this summer.

Everyone reading this magazine probably loves non-sport cards, and with good reason. There are many beautiful trading card sets out there, but every once in a while a set is released that, well, stinks. Here are some pretty bad sets, in this writer's humble opinion. Surely readers may have some others to add to this list.

THE ROYAL FAMILY (PRESS PASS, 1993)

The British Royal Family has always had a huge fan following in the United States, and in the 1990s they were at the height of their popularity with Princess Diana and The Duchess of York, aka Fergie, in the public eye. But, like any family group, the Royals had their foibles. Constantly being scrutinized by the press made them easy targets for satire. Press Pass' 110-card set cites examples of family discord, such as Charles' dislike of his fun-loving sister-in-law, Fergie, the Queen's well-known frugality, and Prince Phillip's extra-marital affairs.

Cards 55 to 72 are a subset entitled Royal Scandal, covering such subjects as Camilla Bowles Parker, the older, married woman for whom Charles dumped Diana. Another subset is A Passion for Fashion, with card headings such as Fergie Was Basically a Mess and Queen's Penchant for Dowdiness. The card wrappers are even designed to look like a tabloid newspaper cover. While the criticism brought down on the royals in this set is due mainly to their alleged foolish behavior and poor decisions, the subject matter is best left to tell-all books and scandal tabloids, not trading cards. There is little humor or entertainment value in these cards and the end result is this set is just plain mean.

DC BLOODLINES (SKYBOX, 1993)

In the early 1990s, genius and/or madness reigned at DC comics. In 1992, they killed off their greatest hero in what turned out to be a publicity gimmick because Superman would return in 1993 for Bloodbath #1, which introduced the Bloodlines series. Here, alien parasites killed humans by sucking spinal fluids from their bodies. However, a handful of victims did not die but absorbed enzymes from the aliens and became superheroes themselves, becoming The New Bloods. Among the numerous New Bloods were Loria, a woman who could transform into metal, and Jamm, a "prodigious Surfer Dude."

There were several comics based on these characters, along with the SkyBox card set. The cards cover the various New Bloods, as well as the heroes who stepped in to replace Superman, such as the Last Son of Krypton. The alien parasites are also included, making this a confusing mass of new characters. Don't expect much help from the text on the back as the first 54 cards of the 81-card base set make up a huge puzzle. The front of the cards feature artwork from the comics, along with a wide, busy border. Every character has seemingly tried to outdo each other with colorful, gaudy costumes, the end result making for a rather unattractive set. The whole Death of Superman era, along with DC Bloodlines, is seldom talked about now in the DC Universe. Virtually all the New Bloods have been forgotten by now, or killed off. With little relevance to the DC legend, DC Bloodlines is best forgotten as well.

CATWOMAN

(INKWORKS, 2005)

Catwoman has always been a popular character. Eartha Kitt, Lee Meriwether, Julie Newmar, and Michele Pfeiffer had all done turns as Batman's delicious foe, and killed it. This time, Best Actress Oscar Winner Halle Berry was in the title role, fresh off the set of Bond pic Die Another Day, and at the height of her popularity. What could go wrong? Well, pretty much everything. The poorly written story is about Patience Phillips (not Selina Kyle, this film has nothing to do with the DC Universe). Catwoman received blistering reviews from critics, many of whom labelled it one of the worst films of all time.

Audiences stayed away in droves and Batman was nowhere to be seen to help save this disaster.

Unfortunately for Inkworks, they had committed to do a card set based on the film. The 72-card base set tries hard, with somewhat silly cat titles like A Purr-fect Play and Kitty Cornered. There are the usual foils and a nine-card puzzle, and some okay costume cards, but a bad movie doesn't inspire collectors to buy the cards. The one thing that may have saved this set was the autographs. There were some well-known actors involved in this film, including Sharon Stone, Benjamin Bratt and Frances Conroy, but they were not among the seven virtual unknowns who did sign. Of course, Berry did not sign either, although she did sign later for her Bond girl role. Catwoman simply lacks claws.

MARS ATTACKS: THE REVENGE

(TOPPS, 2017)

What? A Mars Attacks set on this list?

Topps had, in the past, exhibited real creativity with their ongoing Mars Attacks series, so that only made this even more of a disappointment. This set was issued on the 55th Anniversary of the original Mars Attacks, leaving collectors with the hope that something truly special would be included with these.

Mars Attacks: The

Revenge came as a boxed set, with 134 cards per box. The hits were a sketch and either an artist autograph, Medallion card or Print plate. The 55 base cards were as expected—beautiful, exciting, gory artwork that would appeal to bloodthirsty Mars Attacks fans. So far, so good, and that still leaves 77 cards. What might they be? Some creative chase cards perhaps? Motion cards, 3-D, even stickers would be cool. Nope, the remaining 77 cards, more than half the box, are Parallel cards.

Yep, first there are 17 parallels with colorful borders! But the most infuriating is a full 55-card set of pale black and white drawings meant to represent preliminary sketches of the base cards. The “pencil” drawings are little more than light line drawings of the base cards, and offer no insight into the artist's original idea. Some of the detail is washed out. To top it off, there are five parallels of the pale pencil drawings with colorful borders! To offer a set where over half the cards are parallels of the base set is just lazy. NSU

UPDATE

WHAT'S LISTED

Products listed in the Price Guide typically:

- Are produced by licensed manufacturers
- Are widely available
- Have market activity on single items

HOW IT'S LISTED

The sort order of the checklists are somewhat unique. All sets are listed 1) alphabetically then 2) chronologically. However, some exceptions have been made to further accommodate the reader. For instance, when it comes to recurring series, television seasons or film franchises and their sequels, all checklists will be grouped together in the same block. For example, if a reader was looking for sets devoted to James Bond or Harry Potter, they would find all sets devoted to these franchises in the same block. They would be listed chronologically while still adhering to the alphabetization of the entire section.

WHAT THE COLUMNS MEAN

The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column on the right generally represents the full retail selling price. The LO column on the left generally represents the lowest price one would expect to find with extensive shopping.

MULTIPLIERS

Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

PRICING PREMIUMS

Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards that became hot since this issue went to press, fan favorites (such as Harrison Ford) who may be in high demand, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches, props, or patches.

STATED ODDS AND PRINT RUNS

Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = 1 in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately. Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media nor the manufacturer.

GRADING

All cards in the price guide are based on NrMint to Mint condition. Damaged cards are generally sold for 25 to 75 percent of Mint value.

CURRENCY

This price guide is intended to reflect the entire North American market. While not all of the cards are produced in the United States, they will reflect the market value in U.S. dollars.

ONLY A REFERENCE

The data and pricing information contained within this publication is intended for reference only and is not to be used as an endorsement of any specific product(s) or as a recommendation to buy or sell any product(s).
